

RESPOND: Responding Effectively to Suicide and Sudden Death

25TH JUNE 07 9AM—5PM COST: $30

Losing someone as the result of a sudden death is traumatic and can have long term effects on the bereaved. Losing someone to suicide has an added impact and can leave the person at an increased risk of completing suicide themselves. People who have lost someone to a sudden death need people around them who are able to, and prepared to RESPOND effectively. The RESPOND training has been developed to ensure there are people in the community who can do just that.

The RESPOND training will enable participants to have a better understanding of the impact of sudden death and leave them feeling skilled and confident to provide much needed support to those bereaved and perhaps to help prevent a future suicide.

If you are interested in attending this training please complete a registration form and return it to Lifeline Canberra.
